MOHLER SANITY TRIAL IS STARTED

NEWS COOKING SCHOOL MOVES TO MEMORIAL HALL

THE Lima News Cooking School, which opened yesterday at the Y. M. C. A., will be held at Memorial hall Thursday and Friday.

This was made necessary by the big attendance at the opening class and the certain increased attendance on the last two days, the most important of the course.

When the Y. M. C. A.

banquet hall with its seating capacity of nearly 500 was obtained for this school, it was believed that it would accommodate those who would want to attend. Before 2 p.m., the opening hour Tuesday, it was apparent that the room was far too small.

Every available inch of space was taken. It was estimated by those in charge that at least 200 women were unable to get in the room. At least 500 jammed into the hall to hear the first lecture.

Immediately, The News opened negotiations for Memorial hall where 1,600 may be comfortably seated and where all may see the demonstration plainly.

General Secretary Tom Pearman of the Y. M. C.

A., and his corps of assistants worked nobly Tuesday afternoon to make room for as many as possible at the first class and demonstration. They turned the entire resources of the "Y" over to the school and were on the job to help make the most of the crowded condition. The News on its behalf and on behalf of those who attended the school wishes to thank Mr. Pearman and his assistants for their cooperation and kindness.

Everything will be ready for the big demonstration at Memorial hall Thursday. Special features will be added to the regular program Thursday and Friday so that those who were unable to attend the first two classes will have a comprehensive idea of the entire course.

It is hoped that Memorial hall will be filled Thursday and Friday. Thursday's demonstration will be of general cooking. Friday will be the big Valentine party when parties and party planning will be discussed and demonstrated, a feature every woman is interested in.

CROWD PACKS COURT ROOM FOR HEARING

Jury is Seated After Questioning by Attorneys in Case

PRISONER MAY TAKE STAND

Expert Witnesses Called to Testify Regarding His Condition

Trial of William H. Mohler, 78, who killed and dismembered Katherine Mohler, his mate of 40 years, to determine whether or not he is insane commenced before a special jury in common pleas court Wednesday.

Mohler is being tried in conformity with a recommendation made by the grand jury that he be tried to determine his mentality.

Mohler was calm and collected, when led into the court room by Sheriff Crosson at 11 a.m.

He seated himself in a chair along side counsel's table in the center of the court room, as apparently unmoved as if he had been spending a quiet evening at his own fireside.

ROOM CROWDED

Lawmen called on the special jury panel which is to try the case, were seated in the jury box after some difficulty shortly after 10 a.m. Many of the jurors were unable to get into the court room because of the dense throng packed about the door ways.

Battiffs, deputy sheriffs and policemen, were in several cases compelled to use considerable force to compel the crowd to part and allow persons entitled to enter the bar to pass thru.

Mohler was led into court a murmur swept thru the crowded mass of humanity that filled the place.

Necks of spectators were strained to the utmost as many persons standing in the aisles and sides of the room stood on tiptoe to get a glimpse of the self-confessed slayer.

WEARS DARK SUIT

Mohler was dressed in a dark suit, that seemed to fit his slight figure loosely. He wore black cowhide shoes and a hickory shirt. He wore his hat into the court room, but at a word from Sheriff Crosson removed it, and sat fidgeting and twisting it like a bashful boy.

Four score years have left the defendant's sparse hair gray white, and soaged his face with the furrows of time.

His short stubby mustache matched his hair in whiteness. His ears are a little too large for the rest of his head, and have long drooping lobes, said to go with a strong domineering character. The nose is prominent, rather sharp and slightly aquiline. The mouth half hidden by his mustache, is drooper but firm. The chin is long, prominent and heavy. His eyes set close together, peer in from overhauled brows.

Every member of the jury examined and questioned by Dan Trippelton, court for Mohler, as to his bias, opinion or prejudice against rendering a man to the asylum if found insane instead of to the electric chair.

NO PREJUDICE

One witness examined, with one exception replied that they had no bias in the matter.

Other questions asked the jury were:

"Do you believe that a man may be tried on one topic and die on all others?"

"Do you believe that the man has to be a victim to his crime?"

"Can you try this case without any bias or prejudice, without fear of what others may say?" The outside, just in the evidence, is presented to you from the witness chair."

"Can you try the case on the question of sanity, without any regard to the time or its resulting circumstances?"

With the fact that Mrs. Mohler was a woman, make any difference to you in the trial of the action?"

These and many other questions were asked by Trippelton and by George T. Lippincott, prosecuting attorney, who with C. W. Long, assistant, review of the state.

ATTEMPTED ELOPEMENT IS HALTED, POLICE ARE TOLD

Lillian Waltz, 16, of 402 E. Market St., and James Lombardo, 19, formerly living at 2003 N. Union St., were taken by Lt. Wayne police as they attempted on the question of sanity, and did not believe he could change.

Mohler is a near neighbor of the defendant.

After the jury was seated, Judge Parker who is hearing the case, adjourned court until 1:30 p.m., when

ACCUSED SLAYER OF GIRL FREED

Kentucky Man Acquitted in Mineola, N. Y., Murder Case

MINEOLA, N. Y. — (Associated Press) — William Creasy, of Fort Thomas, Ky., early today was acquitted by a jury of murdering Miss Edith Lavoy, a Freep school teacher, in June, 1922, in her boarding house after their engagement to marry had been broken. Convicted at the first trial in October, 1922, Creasy won an appeal after nine months in the death house at Sing Sing.

At five minutes after four the jury, after deliberating for almost eight hours, filed into the court room and announced that they had reached a verdict. Creasy, visibly nervous, was brought into the room a minute before Justice Callahan ascended the bench. As the verdict of "not guilty" was announced he almost collapsed.

PRISONER KISSED

As the echo of the foreman's voice died from the silent room, Mrs. Mildred Sheldon, school teacher, who had been a room mate of Edith Lavoy and who testified against Creasy as one of the chief witnesses for the prosecution, sprang from her seat and flung herself at the bewildered Creasy. She placed a resounding kiss on his cheek.

"That kiss gave me a greater shock," the acquitted man said later, "than the announcement of that first verdict against me two years ago."

Creasy's family crowded about him, offering their congratulations. James Creasy of Belleville, Ky., his father, and his sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Payne and Mrs. Hortense Wartinger, of Richmond, Va., Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Lavoy of Tupper Lake, N. Y., the dead girl's parents, tried to force a smile, but with little success.

"I am the happiest man in the United States," Creasy announced to more than 100 persons who had waited in the courtroom throughout the night and who rushed forward when the verdict was announced to shake his hand.

At the first trial in September, 1922, Creasy was convicted of murdering Miss Lavoy, whose body was found on a couch in her boarding house room after he had spent the evening with her. After nine months in the death house he was released when the court of appeals granted a new trial on the ground that illegal evidence had been admitted.

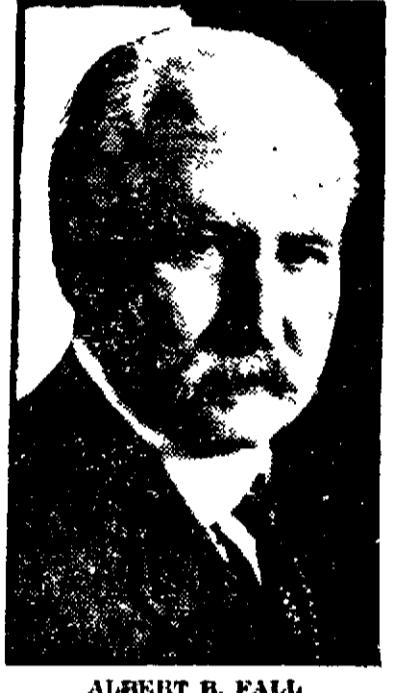

In his opinion the court held that Creasy had been sent to the death house on the strength of a forged letter, known to be false by the prosecutor.

Creasy will return to Kentucky with his family.

FALL WILL AGAIN FACE PROBERS

Former Cabinet Member Called Back in Oil Investigation

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — While the Senate Teapot Dome investigating committee is awaiting the return here of former Interior Secretary Albert B. Fall, discussion of sensational testimony already given in the Wyoming oil lease inquiry today ranged thru all phases of official life and threatened to engulf serious debate.

Senator Caraway, Democrat of Arkansas, who has attacked the official acts of Fall on the Senate floor, was demanding action on his resolution proposing immediate cancellation of the lease entered into by the former secretary with the Sinclair oil interests.

Fall is expected to face the investigating committee again on Friday, having announced in New Orleans last night that he would leave today for Washington in response to a committee summons. The committee's purpose in recalling the former secretary is to insist that he explain the source of $100,000 he has already testified he carried to El Paso to purchase an addition to his New Mexico ranch.

J. W. Zerby, personal friend and counsel for Harry F. Sinclair, also is expected to arrive here tomorrow from New Orleans under a subpoena issued after the committee had been told by Sinclair's secretary, G. D. Wahlberg, that Sinclair had loaned Zerby $100,000 evidenced by $25,000 in liberty bonds and 3,500 shares of Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation stock. G. T. Stanford, attorney for Sinclair, testified yesterday Zerby had told him he had used the money to purchase a home on Long Island.

The committee took up again the trail of the books of the Hyva Corporation, which Stanford said was a private one, including only Sinclair and members of his immediate family. Senator Walsh, Democrat of Montana, insisted on the committee's right to see these books in view of the testimony of Archie Roosevelt, son of the former president that Wahlberg had seen cancelled checks of the Hyva Corporation for $64,000 drawn in favor of the foreman of Fall's ranch.

Objecting to the committee examining the books in the absence of his client, Stanford agreed to send a telegram urging his return from Europe at the earliest possible time. Chairman Lenroot announced that the committee desired the appearance of Mr. Sinclair without delay.

Stanford denied that the departure of Sinclair for Paris was "secret" as indicated by the testimony of Roosevelt. He said he had knowledge of it thirty days before and that as a matter of fact his client had planned to depart immediately after Christmas but was pre-

More Fighting Material Sold to Mexican Government

50,000 RIFLES IN THE LIST

Waiting Attitude as to Blockade is Adopted

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — Further aid has been extended by the United States to the Obregon administration thru a second sale of surplus war materials for use in its effort to maintain a stable government in Mexico.

The situation relating to the "postured" rebel blockade of Tampico and the projected mining of the Frontera, Puerto Mexico and Vera Cruz harbors meanwhile is understood to be quietest, as far as the American government is concerned.

The president and his cabinet at their meeting yesterday devoted little time to the question. Secretary Hughes reporting no important developments along the coast or in the interior.

The new deal in arms, negotiated by the Mexican embassy, calls for delivery at El Paso to Obregon representatives of 50,000 Enfield rifles, 2,500 army colt .45 caliber automatic pistols and ammunition for the latter.

MORE SHIPS DUE

TAMPA — (Associated Press) — Additional units of the American naval squadron which has been ordered to Mexican waters are expected here today to join the cruiser Richmond.

The chief of the federal garrison here has issued a public proclamation giving rebel sympathizers 72 hours in which to leave the city. The departure of this element, it is believed, will put a stop to the many alarmist reports.

Military activities in the oil region resulted yesterday in the capture by federal forces of Zacamitzla.

Revolutionaries who had gained control of Ciudad Victoria, the capital of Tamaulipas, evacuated the town upon the approach of a federal contingent.

The capture of Guadalajara, capital of Jalisco, has not been confirmed but its occupation by the federales is believed to be imminent. An exchange of salutes between the cruiser Richmond and the land batteries of this port created a sensation here yesterday. The residents were greatly excited, fearing that the rebels were again bombarding the city.

Police advanced the theory that the job had been done by boys, and are looking for one with a sweet tooth, Wednesday. The store is at Jameson and Lathrop-sts.

This is the second time the Meffley store has been entered, police say. On Christmas eve a bandit with a black mask held Meffley up and received him of $35. On leaving, he wished his victim a "Merry Christmas."

INCOMPETENCY CHARGED IN WRANGLE OVER ESTATE

CHICAGO — New charges accusing Joseph Leiter, of incompetency to administer the $100,000 estate of his father, Levi Z. Leiter of Chicago department farms, were on file today on behalf of Lady Margaret Hyde, Countess of Suffolk and Barks.

Lady Margaret, a sister of Joseph and one of the four trustees of the deceased millionaire merchant's estate, accused her brother of excluding her from a voice in the management of the family business affairs.

Appointment of William J. Warr, as fourth trustee of the estate by Joseph Leiter and his sister, Mrs. Colin Campbell, was illegal because she did not sanction the appointment, Lady Margaret declared.

The new charges are expected to delay her suit for accounting in which she charged, Joseph Leiter has violated and abused his trust and is wholly unfit to continue as a trustee.

LICENSE CODE POPULAR

Requests to City Manager C. A. Bingham for copies of the city license code were received Wednesday from Seattle, Washington, and Westerville, Ohio. Both cities contemplate drafting license laws and wish to use the local code for reference. Last week a copy was sent to Chicago for record in the municipal library.

BINGHAM BACKS TAXICAB INSURANCE PROVISION

Fight for enforcement of the taxicab insurance section of the city code was opened in city commission chambers Monday night by City Manager C. A. Bingham who opposed any amendment to the present taxi laws.

The city code provides for a $500 bond or insurance for taxi operators to safeguard the public.

"I hear that a movement is on foot to influence the commission to rescind the section compelling drivers to obtain a bond," Manager Bingham said, "and I desire to advise commissioners against such action."

Lists of 21 complaints of accidents, recklessness driving and speeding were filed by the city manager against the various transportation companies for information of the commission.

Statements that common carriers should have some responsibility for the safety of passengers were made by Commissioners Cunningham and Jones who voiced their approval of the city manager's position.

The communication was filed for future reference in event taxi companies bring the question up for discussion.

$15,000 PUMPER AUTHORIZED

Commission Approves Purchase of New Fire Apparatus

Legislation for the purchase of a 1,000 gallons a minute pumper in the fire department was authorized Monday night at commission meeting.

Expenditure is not to exceed $15,000 for the new apparatus and extra hose, bids for which will be received at once by City Manager C. A. Bingham.

Commissioners agreed unanimously on the pressing need of modernized equipment in the fire department and Bingham's recommendation was adopted with little comment.

In his letter to the city commission, Manager Bingham said it is criminal negligence to operate the fire department without a modern pumper.

"Had there been a high wind the morning of the Leist block fire the entire E. Spring-st business section would have been wiped out," Bingham said.

WORK HAMPERED

"It took Nremen four hours to battle the flames. With modernized equipment the fire could have been quenched in half the time."

Unleasiness of the old steam pumper at Central Fire department was shown by Commissioner Rohr who informed commissioners that at least $3,000 would be necessary to repair it and four extra men would have to be hired to operate it.

"Salaries of extra men for four years would pay for a modern pumper," Rohr said to dispel belief by citizens that the old steamer is sufficient to meet the demands. It has also been condemned by the state fire department.

Legislation of an emergency measure authorizing the issuance of $15,000 worth of bonds will be presented and passed at the next commission meeting. To avoid delay City Manager Bingham will at once receive bids for immediate delivery.

SWEDEN SPENDS MILLIONS ON HOUSING PROBLEM

STOCKHOLM — Having spent $14,000,000 in the last five years in efforts to solve the housing problem in Sweden, the state now finds the situation considerably relieved.

BANKS AIDED BY RESERVE BOARD

Financiers Hope to Weather Crisis in South Dakota

SIOUX FALLS, S. D. — (Associated Press) — The federal reserve came to the rescue of South Dakota banks last night in the financial crisis brought on by a series of bank failures.

A total of $320,000 in federal reserve funds was brought here by Harry L. Ziener from the ninth district bank at Minneapolis and as a result local bankers are becoming more optimistic.

Eugene Meyer, Jr., managing director of the War Finance Corporation, is expected here today from Chicago to discuss further financial aid for South Dakota banks in conference with the State's Guaranty Fund Commissioner W. H. McMaster and a number of bankers.

Local bankers say the situation has cleared materially despite the closing of a small bank at Renner, S. D., yesterday. The bankers say it may be possible to surmount present difficulties without further trouble if they receive immediately substantial federal assistance.

BANKERS IN CONFERENCE

CHICAGO — No plan for the relief of banks in the northwest was announced after the conferences here of financial representatives of the government bankers of the section, which ended last night.

It is understood that it was the consensus of opinion among Chicago bankers who conferred with the federal officials yesterday that any relief to the banks whose capital has been impaired by inability to realize on "frozen assets," chiefly farmers' obligations, should come from the War Finance Corporation or the federal reserve board acting thru the reserve system.

The Chicago bankers are said to have been unwilling to enter a pool, suggested by Minneapolis and St. Paul banks, who are understood to have offered to put up $1,000,000 if New York and Chicago bankers would raise an equal amount.

Surplus water supply sufficient to meet municipal demands for nearly one year without further drain on Ottawa river is stored in three city reservoirs.

Total surplus is estimated by City Manager C. A. Bingham at 1,300,000,000 gallons. The daily consumption aggregates 4,500,000 gallons, taking 300 days in which to drain the reservoirs providing no water were pumped direct into the mains from the river source.

RUSSIA DAZED BY LENIN'S DEATH

Far-Flung Villages of Siberia Affected by Premier's Demise

BODY WILL LIE IN STATE

Great Crowd Gathers to View Remains of Leader

MOSCOW—(Associated Press)—The body of Nikolai Lenin lay last night in the villa at Gorky where the great bolshevik premier, stricken with a fatal illness, spent most of the last year of his life.

Early this morning a group of Communist party leaders and members of the All-Russian soviet congress, boarded a train for the little village. They were to return late this afternoon as the official escort to their chief's casket.

Only Lenin's widow, his mother, and some of his most intimate associates in the Communist party stayed the death watch in the Gorky villa throughout the night. As this little group awaited the coming of the crowd there were pouring into Moscow a flood of cablegrams that showed that the world mourned the dead chairman deeply.

West Russia herself from the far-flung villages of Siberia, to the towns of the Crimea, is dazed by the passing of her premier. Some of the Soviets hate communism but most of them placed their confidence in Lenin.

Government authorities are prepared to handle the hundreds of thousands who until Saturday will march by the body—crowd which may rival in numbers that which passed the bier of King Edward.

It is not yet known whether Leon Trotsky, who is ill, will be able to attend the funeral.

In the meantime, the party differences which have been bitterly aired during the recent official conferences and discussions will be subordinated. After the dead leader is buried, the All-Russian soviet congress will formally decide who is to try to fill the vacant place.

GAVE RELIEF TO TEXAS GIANT

Plant Juice Ended Stomach Trouble He Had Endured for 10 Years

"IT'S WONDERFUL," HE SAYS

Many of the older people of this city will remember Mr. A. A. Powell, of Joshua, Texas, Rural Route No. 1, who stands seven and one-half feet tall and who appeared here several times from 1886 to 1893, with the

MR. A. A. POWELL

P. T. Barnum Circus. Mr. Powell is a prominent member of the Masons, Knights Templars, and Odd Fellows No. 334.

This well known man who has friends all over the country, is the latest prominent American to publicly endorse this surprising herbal medicine, Plant Juice, for the unusual good it did him. Recently, he made the trip from his home at Joshua all the way to Fort Worth, Texas, to see the Plant Juice Man, who was at that city, and at that time he made the following statement about Plant Juice:

"Your Plant Juice is wonderful and deserves the highest possible endorsement," said Mr. Powell. "For 10 years I suffered from fermentation of my food and stomach trouble. I had bad attacks of indigestion and suffered from chronic constipation and general debility."

"I tried first one medicine and then another and spent a great deal of money in my attempts to get relief but it seemed like nothing would reach my case. But I will say that the first few doses of your Plant Juice did me worlds of good and by the time I had taken all of the first bottle, I knew I was on the road to recovery. I have not taken three bottles of Plant Juice and can eat a good, big meal and enjoy it for I know I will not have after effects. I am not troubled a bit now with gas or indigestion and have been relieved of the constipation. In my opinion, the formula of your Plant Juice surely must be wonderful for I know that three bottles of it surely did the work for me."

Plant Juice is sold in Lima at the Hunter drug stores, 49 Public Square and Main and Wayne streets and at the Argonne drug store, opposite Post Office.—Adv.

Dandruff Soon Destroys the Hair

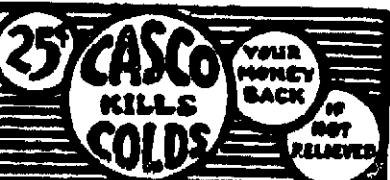

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

COOLIDGE OFFERS PLANS TO AID FARMERS

5 RELIEF STEPS PROPOSED

Refunding of Past Due Indebtedness Heads His List

FINANCIAL HELP IS NEXT

Sends Special Message to Congress on Question

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — Five steps for the relief of the agriculture situation in the northwest, some to be taken by congress, some by the executive branch of the government and some by private interests were outlined by President Coolidge today in a special message to congress.

The steps include:

The refunding of the pressing past due indebtedness of the farmer in the territories most seriously affected;

Financial assistance thru a federal agency to enable wheat farmers to make the change from a single crop system to diversified farming;

The restoration, wherever it would be helpful, of the impaired capital of banking institutions in the distressed sections;

The creation by private capital of a national financing corporation to assist in the plan of reorganization;

The extension of the time during which the war finance corporation can make loans.

Mr. Coolidge told Congress that these measures "by which without undue alarm or agitation, but nevertheless promptly and effectively we can bring to bear on a serious though a localized emergency every resource of the federal government and all the assistance which the business and farming community can render."

ACUTE STAGE

"The economic situation in certain wheat growing sections of the northwest," the president said at the outset of his message, "is reaching an acute stage that requires organized cooperation on the part of the federal government and the local institutions of that territory for its solution."

Calling attention to the mention he made of this situation to congress in December he continued:

"Great numbers of individual farmers are so involved in debt both on mortgages and to merchants and banks that they are unable to preserve the equity of their property. They are unable to undertake the diversification of farming that is fundamentally necessary for sound agricultural reconstruction of the area. They are unable to meet their obligation and there has been involved the entire mercantile and banking fabric of these regions."

"Not only have there been large numbers of foreclosures on actual farms but there are great numbers of farmers who are continuing in possession on sufferance from their creditors."

"There have been large and increasing bank failures. Bills have been introduced providing for the lending by the federal government of money directly to the farmers for purposes of assisting them in conversion of their farms on the basis of diversified farming. I am heartily in favor of these bills, but they do not and will not compass the entire problem."

"Many of the farmers are, however, in such jeopardy from their creditors that even with this assistance there is no assurance that they would have a sufficient period to work out the necessary conversion of their methods and it would be useless to give to this group such governmental assistance if it is to be only for purposes of immediate seizure by the creditors."

"Such legislation, therefore, would be a little avoid unless arrangements have been effected between the farmer and his creditors, by the funding of past due indebtedness and interest or by similar means so that the loans will insure to the benefit of the farmer himself instead of merely to the benefit of his creditors. If such arrangements can be made, the farmer can be given the opportunity to work his way out of the present difficulties. If they are not made it is difficult to see how he can benefit from the plan."

LICENSES REQUIRED FOR ALL LIGHT LUNCH PLACES

Every business establishment in Lima where light lunches are served to the public must procure a state restaurant license.

Attorney General C. C. Crabb gave this decision Wednesday in a letter received by City Manager C. A. Bingham from State Fire Marshal Louis F. Miller.

Many soft drink cafes, confectionary stores, small groceries and other places where coffee and sandwiches are served are included in the ruling and are required to procure licenses or else face state prosecution.

Definite ruling that any place where lunches are served is considered the same as a restaurant and must abide by the state restaurant law was given by the attorney general in response to a letter forwarded by City Manager Bingham to the state fire marshal.

Mohler was served with notice of the suits in the county jail. He seemed highly licensed but made no demonstration.

"Marin" aluminum ware was used in the cooking, the demonstrators used Tuesday an assortment of Calumet baking powder, Crisco, Wright's salad dressing, Edwards coffee, Model Mills Flour, Fould's macaroni, White Mountain dairy products, Thompson's milk and Lima Nut Butter products.

The most experienced and efficient housewives of the city were at the demonstration to learn something new, and they learned. And Miss Booth learned, too. She declared that every day she learns something new about cooking and baking and declared that no matter how well informed women may be, they can profit by constant study of home work.

Tuesday afternoon after the salad was made and the lemon pie finished and the cake baked and fed and the doughnuts fried and sugared, and the honey rolls finished and the biscuits baked and coffee prepared, all this in class, the women were given samples of the food. The White Mountain dairy had supplied delicious brick ice cream and this was served to all attending along with the coffee and good things prepared in class. On the whole, it was a very enjoyable reception and the stated.

DOCTOR RELIEVES COLDS WITH SCIENTIFIC VEGETABLE SYRUP

Prescribed by Dr. Thacher to Build Up System So You May Quickly Throw Off Cold and Feel Your Best Again

It is impossible to get rid of a disagreeable cold so long as your system is too run down to throw off the cold as Nature intended. And you cannot be healthy or feel good so long as one vital organ in your body is not functioning as it should. This organ is your liver! When working as Nature intended it purifies your blood, every drop of which filters through your liver every fifteen minutes. Your liver also aids digestion and nourishment, prevents constipation and does many important things to keep your system in condition. But, when it becomes clogged and sluggish your liver cannot do these three things. Con-ssequently you often wake up mornings feeling dull and tired, frequently bothered with one or more symptoms such as lack of appetite, poor digestion, coated tongue, sick headache, stuffy cold, sore throat, nervousness and upset.

Get quick relief and feel your very best again. Take just a spoonful of Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup after the next few meals. Notice the quick difference in the way you look, eat, sleep and feel. This vegetable syrup contains only ingredients that are known to the medical profession for their corrective and health-building properties. Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup is pleasant to take and you will be completely satisfied; otherwise, druggists are authorized to return the small cost.

Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup is sold by Butler's Drug Store, Green's Public Drug Store in Lima and by leading druggists in every city and town. adv statements of the case will be made to the jury, and testimony will be presented.

MOHLER TRIAL IS UNDER WAY

Dr. W. H. Prichard, alienist, superintendent of Columbus state hospital, will be one of the expert witnesses to testify.

Mohler will likely be placed on the stand. Conduct of the case is similar to that of a criminal action with the exception that the defendant has the affirmative side. His counsel is seeking to prove him innocent, while the state will try to show he is sane.

JURY NAMED

Members of the jury who are to try the case are Frank B. Coomer, retired banker, Lafayette; Clarence Holler, oilman, Lima; A. Bessire, retired merchant, Lima; W. R. Gibson, mechanician, Lima; John Bally, farmer, Rockport; J. W. Redd, farmer, Marion-tp.; S. T. Mell, farmer, Sugar Creek-tp.; Mrs. Lela Rader, housewife, Lima; Mrs. Ruth Morris, housewife, Lima; Charles Summer, plumber, Lima; D. C. Deck, blacksmith, Lima; Jim Adams, locomotive works employee, Lima.

Jurors were cautioned by Judy Becker not to discuss the case or let any one talk to them during the noon recess.

"Report any attempt to talk to you to the court," he ordered.

An eager and curiously morbid throng crowded into the court room when doors of the building were opened early Wednesday. Many of the first comers were in court from three to four hours before the trial commenced.

Some present were from Bluffton and Rockland-tp.

William Mohler, 78, on the eve of going to trial to determine his sanity was made defendant in three common please court actions, in which total damages amounting to approximately $15,000 is sought for losses incurred by barn fires on the Gratz farm, Nov. 7 and Nov. 10.

Plaintiffs in the actions are Sam Gratz, owners of the two barns, whose loss is placed at $10,700; Christ Gratz, lessor of the farm on which the second fire occurred, $2,645; Homer Gratz, lessor of Farm 1, who demands $1,600.

The Mennonite Mutual Aid Society, of Putman, Allen, and Hancock-cts, with whom the owner carried insurance is a party to all three suits.

Homer and Christ Gratz, seek to recover for hay and grain and stock lost in two fires. Total insurance carried on the two buildings amounts to $3,540, according to the petition.

CONFESSION IS MADE

Mohler is made defendant to the action on the basis of his confession, made before Sheriff Crosson.

Barn on Homer Gratz's farm was burned first. Mohler retired to bed early to avert suspicion his confession shows. At midnight he arose climbed out a window and made his way across the fields to the doomed building.

It was filled to capacity with grain and hay, the fruits of a year's hard labor. Mohler touched a match to the hay and fled. He was buried in bed when the fire was discovered. The barn was 40 by 80 feet.

Three nights later, Nov. 10, Mohler walked from Bluffton to Christ Gratz place, crossing his own farm in doing so. His trial was plainly discernible in the soft ground.

It was dusk when he touched a match to the hay, he says. In the fire that followed the barn, one of the largest in Allen-ct., a towering silo, two corn cribs, grain, hay, stock and farm tools were burned. The buildings belonged to Samuel Gratz, and the grain with the exception of the ten portions he belonged to the heirs. Tools and stock burned were personal property of the lessees.

Mohler was served with notice of the suits in the county jail. He seemed highly licensed but made no demonstration.

Members of the Rebeccan Lodge are requested to meet at the home of Dr. Doeden, W. Kirby-st, at 1:30 p.m. Thursday, to attend the funeral of Mrs. John Mack.

UNDERWOOD HITS BUREAUCRACY

Time to Call Halt on Bureaucracy,
He Declares

548,506 ON U. S. PAYROLL

Sees Menace in Practice of Creating Jobs

CLEVELAND—(Associated Press)—
A seven or seven year term for presidents with a provision making the executive ineligible for re-election as a created and the bureaucracy as it officiated or functionarism as it officiated in the United States government today was attacked by United States Senator Oscar W. Underwood in his speech of his campaign. The Democratic president-elect's speech made here today before the Akron Chamber of Commerce.

The system of four years for the Senate Underwood said term six or seven years for the executive ineligible and you will have removed the temptation to further when you will have taken out the sphere of partisanship the man in the country who should live and beyond it, and you purified the very air of politics itself, by giving it worthy motives and lesser leading.

In speaking of bureaucracy, Senator Underwood said much time has been lost but it is still not too late to "strangle this detectable thing which attacks and eats into the very vitals of government."

"In the United States the evils are peace bred and war fed," said the senator. "War and the after-war nourishment has grown it into a monster."

PRESIDENTIAL TERM

In presenting his argument for a single term of either six or seven years for presidents, Senator Underwood gave a brief history of the question as it was discussed in the first federal convention when propositions ranging from a term of three years with possible re-election to seven without re-eligibility, were thoroughly discussed. He went on to show that once the states in convention decided that the presidential term should be seven years and that he should be ineligible for re-election. He told that Washington could have had a third term but refused it and that Thomas Jefferson did likewise and gave as his reason that "If some termination to the service of the Chief Magistrate be not fixed by the constitution, as supplied by practice, his office, nominally four years, will in fact become for life."

Senator Underwood said that Andrew Jackson not only refused a third term but even advocated a limit to be inserted in the constitution. He said in the time of Grant the house passed a resolution by a vote of 234 to 12, endorsing the precedent established by Washington. Senator Underwood quoted Benjamin Harrison and Woodrow Wilson, as having criticised the present presidential term arrangement.

Another thing, the uneventment of business throughout the country every four years is entirely too frequent a disturbance of our affairs of trade and traffic. The heavy financial losses thus incurred, added to the ever increasing cost of the elections in the states, the expenses borne by the candidates, make a total that if fairly reckoned would doubtless awaken the people from their apparent lethargy and stir them to prompt and efficient action."

ATTACK ON BUREAUCRACY

In his attack on the bureaucracy prevalent in this country, he said that at present there are 64,958 employees in the District of Columbia and 483,547 additional employees in the United States at large, according to figures of the civil service commission.

"A total of 548,506 all civilians employed by the government," said the senator. "And yet it is proposed at every session of congress to add to the swollen functions of government still further activities, to create more bureaus, and to increase the already stupendous array of civilians on the Federal pay-rolls."

"It is, indeed, time to call a halt! Our federal government is becoming more and more centralized; our states are becoming less and less autonomous. Unless our steps are retraced or brought to a standstill, in a few years we will find ourselves menaced by a danger from within that will be more serious to the safety and preservation of our institutions than any from without."

"Bureaucracy is the outgrowth of

ministrative power in the government departments and bureaus resulting inevitably in undue interference on the part of officials not only in the details of government but in matters outside the scope of their functions and which would be beyond their meddling, if our country is to endure as a democracy."

SICK FLOCKS TO HUNTER'S DRUG STORE JAXON EXPLAINS PEGGEN

City Employee Tells Remarkable Experience

Hunter's Drug Store, 49 Public Square is today the Mecca of all Lima people suffering with any stomach, liver or kidney trouble.

These people are taking advantage of the opportunity to talk with Walter Ellis Jaxon who is now in Lima explaining the uses of his tonic Peggen to all who care to call on him.

On account of his logical views on how to grow strong and how to preserve health, Mr. Jaxon has a host of friends wherever he has lectured. His helpful suggestions have been of great assistance to thousands of people in regaining their lost strength and vigor.

Scores of Lima people who are already acquainted with Peggen have called on Mr. Jaxon and told him of the good his tonic has done them.

"Among the most interesting cases which has come to my attention today," said Mr. Jaxon, while talking with a representative of The Lima News, "is that of Mr. Joseph Smith, of 335 East Kirby Street." Mr. Smith is employed by the Municipal Government of Lima.

"These statements are given me as a mark of appreciation by those who have been relieved of their suffering. Their truthfulness can easily be proven by anyone caring to investigate."

The demand for Peggen in Lima has already passed my expectation, and I am glad to say that I have found many warm personal friends among those who have used my medicine."

The genuine Peggen is packed in a white blue and gold carton. It may be obtained in Lima only at Hunter's Drug Stores, 49 Public Square, Main and Wayne Streets and The Aigonne Store opposite Post Office.

at night I couldn't sleep sound but would wake up at the least little noise.

"About two weeks ago I commenced taking Peggen. Before I had finished one bottle I noticed an improvement. My appetite got better. I found I could eat my meals without having to suffer with the attacks of gas afterwards. It helped me sleep too. I can now sleep sound and in the morning when I wake up I have a clear head. No headaches and I feel fresh and ready for the day's work. I am glad to recommend Peggen for I know from my own experience that it is a good medicine."

In remarking about Mr. Smith's case, Mr. Jaxon said:

"The best argument in favor of this or any other medicine in the opinion of those who have tried it, I am glad to publish the statements of many Lima citizens who know the value of Peggen."

"These statements are given me as a mark of appreciation by those who have been relieved of their suffering. Their truthfulness can easily be proven by anyone caring to investigate."

The demand for Peggen in Lima has already passed my expectation, and I am glad to say that I have found many warm personal friends among those who have used my medicine."

The genuine Peggen is packed in a white blue and gold carton. It may be obtained in Lima only at Hunter's Drug Stores, 49 Public Square, Main and Wayne Streets and The Aigonne Store opposite Post Office.

Patent Medicine Useless In Treating Tuberculosis

Relative to treatment of tuberculosis—the U. S. Public Health Service advises very strongly against the use of patent medicines—as follows:

"There is no drug known, however rare or expensive it may be, that has any special curative action on this disease and all remedies advertised as such are to be avoided."

"There are many symptoms peculiar to each case which may require medicine, but what is good for one patient may be very bad for another, and a doctor should be in charge to prescribe all medicines taken, and to regulate the patient's daily life."

Whether you suspicion this or any other disease, the advice is equally valuable.

Always consult your doctor at the first indication of illness.

NO GAS FUMES CAN ENTER THIS OVEN

THOUSANDS of women have found in the Estate Gas Range the real secret of fine cookery—an absolutely dependable oven. The baking is actually done in sterilized fresh air. The air in which the gas burns circulates all around the oven, but no fumes of gas combustion can possibly touch the oven.

Your Heart's Desire— Really Uniform Oven Heat

No need to keep opening the oven door for a peek at the baking. No need of shifting the pans about. Estate Gas Ranges may be had with the ThermEstate Oven Heat Control if desired, to fix and maintain any required oven temperature. But Estate construction itself, without the ThermEstate, insures even temperature all through the oven.

Estate construction also gives greater baking space. A 16-inch Estate Oven actually has the baking capacity of an ordinary 18-inch oven.

Before you buy a new gas range let us explain the many advantages of Fresh-Air Baking and show you Estate Gas Ranges in a wide variety of styles and sizes.

COLD SNAP VIEWED AS MENACE TO SEED CORN

Fear that the recent cold snaps will spoil the seed corn now held by farmers in Allen-ee, was voiced Wednesday by Hugh J. Ridge, county farm agent.

The fact that the seed corn picked last fall contains a great amount of moisture, Ridge stated, which is affected by the cold weather, will add to the prospects of having to seek seed corn outside the state.

The conditions recall the circumstances surrounding the 1918 seed crop famine, when the very cold snap spoiled the crop picked the year before. Extensive tests at the germinating power of the corn now in the hands of the farmers will be made by experts from the Ohio State University, Ridge said. The test in Allen-ee will be announced at a later date.

OUR PUBLIC LIBRARY

LIMA has a public library which at one time was a credit to the city, an institution which answered the needs of the community; but that time is passed. If we are honest and frank with ourselves we must admit that the library has not kept pace with the growth of the city and its other institutions.

The library itself is not at fault; nor can we blame the officials and those responsible for the upkeep and maintenance of the institution; all are victims of circumstances.

Frankly, the library has stood still while the city was growing, because other things incident to the city's growth absorbed all the money. Recently The News published some figures showing how Lima spends on certain things compared with what other cities spend. The library was one of those things which rendered the comparison odious to citizens of Lima.

The time cannot be put off much longer, if any, when Lima must do something for its library. If the patient doesn't get a doctor pretty soon an undertaker will have to be called instead. Those who apportion the city's finances can't see where the city can do anything. It's their business to study the situation and to know what can be done and what cannot; The News does assume to know as much about the situation as they do and consequently does not dispute their judgment.

The fact remains, however, that the library, one of the most essential institutions in community life today, is not what it should be for a city the size of Lima. The job of making it what it should be is Lima's job.

We will be frank and confess we do not know how Lima is going about it, or what it can do in the situation. What we want to do here is to call the situation to mind and to say something that may get the city to thinking about it in the hope that combined community thought may see a way thru. Some public spirited persons have taken the lead and started a collection of books that will result in much good but this will not meet the need entirely.

We know of cities half the size of Lima, yes even a fifth our size, that boast better equipped libraries. It certainly is a situation we do not want to see continued. Let's get busy.

0 0 0 0 ACTION IS NEEDED

DR. ADAMS, our former coroner, thru the columns of The News has made some timely and pertinent observations concerning the tragedy which recently shocked all of Allen-co.

Dr. Adams' observations, in effect, indict the county. They charge the county with being responsible, thru negligence. That other counties may be responsible likewise for similar conditions of their own does not minimize the seriousness of our own responsibilities.

If it is within the power of the county to create something that will tend to prevent irresponsible people from continuing heinous crimes it is the county's duty to do so as soon as possible. If making arrangements for placing under competent observation for a proper length of time people suspected of insane tendencies—if making these arrangements is the remedy, by all means let's have it and have it at once.

There is an old saying about locking the barn after the horse is gone; but there are other horses and other barns. In other words we do not know how soon circumstances similar to those preceding and attending our recent tragedy may recur. Let's act now and get ready for them.

0 0 0 0 A BOOMERANG

SOME of the big manufacturers of soft drinks are understood to have made large contributions to the prohibition campaign with the idea that the passing of the saloon would stimulate the sales of soft drinks.

Oscar Hogeneser of the Illinois Bottlers of Carbonated Beverages Association says in a speech that prohibition has dealt soft drinks a body blow. Ginger ale and the like have fallen by the wayside. The national drink is "home-brew."

This condition may be temporary. But it illustrates how any movement is apt to become a boomerang.

TESTING THE HEART

The reader who suggested a series made this: Count the pulse after 10 days about heart disease a kid whether a layman can tell if his heart is weak and if so how.

In the last talk on the subject, "How Hearts Fail," we listed half a dozen signs which, while not proving that there is anything the matter with the heart, do nevertheless warn the victim that he should at least have a medical examination. A layman never can diagnose heart disease. I doubt whether even a doctor could diagnose it himself. But to-day I give a few tests which are fairly dependable gauges of the functional efficiency of the heart; after all, that is the important thing. If one's heart functions normally, why worry about heart disease? On the other hand, if you try these tests and find that your heart function is not up to standard, don't worry about heart disease, but go and have a medical examination, for there are several other disease conditions which may impair the functional efficiency of the circulation besides disease of the heart.

The first and simplest test is holding the breath by the watch. If you can hold it 40 seconds your heart is probably functioning very well. If the immediate pre-ejection has passed too long, the breaking point falls much short of a minute (or so) and during the time of the normal average of 10 seconds, you need medical attention. There should be a definite decrease within three minutes. If you don't you probably need careful physical training. Your heart is weak functionally.

A fourth test which is used by medical examiners is the hopping test. Jumping 20 times on one foot. This causes an increase of perhaps 25 beats over the resting rate. If the increase is greater than that, your circulation is defective.

A fifth test calls for two flights of stairs. Run quickly up the two flights, then count your pulse. After you have rung up, then count your pulse again. The force of the heart beat is noticeably increased. You should feel the thump. You should feel the thump again; your pulse for a time is a little queer or trick which is unexplainable against your pulse for a time which would spoil the significance of the test. If one prepares for two or three minutes test, by breathing a little deeper and just a little faster than ordinary, then holds the breath, it is not difficult to last 1½ or two minutes. Some students breathed more oxygen from a tank for five minutes in this way and then held their breath eight minutes.

Another fairly dependable test of the integrity of the circulation is

WHEN JANET ISSUES HER COMMANDS

When Janet issues her commands Her language knows no forceful phrase,

But still the household understands

And young or old at once obeys.

The proudest queen upon her throne,

Trained to the purple and the crown,

Her will makes not more clearly known.

That Janet with a smile or frown,

What are these words which men employ?

What is this speech we boast of here?

Without this gift we all enjoy

Janet can make her meaning clear,

When she would ride upon your knee,

She'll let you know, beyond a doubt,

And you her romping steed will be.

Until she's had her gallop out,

She'll lead you by the hand afar,

She'll take you up and down the stairs,

You'll know just what her wishes are,

You'll find her dolls and teddy bears,

She has a way of making known

Just what it is she wills to do;

She rules the house, and she alone,

And well we understand her, too.

Just eighteen months, and yet, I say,

That little princess rules us all,

Unto her slightest whim we bow.

With eager feet and willing hands.

We revel in love's tyranny.

The question uppermost in minds of politicians here, is whether a delegate's badge also admits its owner to the affair.

Members of Congress were elected in November, 1922, or reelected in November, 1924. The session opened in March, 1923. Tex Rickard's assistance in landing the Democratic convention for New York City, and the selection of Tex's sporting emporium — Madison Square Garden—for that gathering has furnished Republicans material for quips and jests at Democratic expense.

"Rickard is some fight promoter," G. O. P. jesters here tell their Democratic brethren. "Th' old party must be planning for a battle royal this time."

"Madison Square Garden—ahem—isn't that where all the endurance contests are held—sixty-mile bike races and such?" another remarks.

"New York always holds its circus at the Garden," another chimes in.

Not the least interesting preliminary to the Democratic scrap is the prospect that Rickard will stage a pugilistic battle between Dempsey and Gibbons at one of the New York ball parks on June 25.

Although nominally convening June 24, organization of committees drafting of platform, passing on credentials, etc., will occupy the first three days of the session, leaving the rank and file of delegates, after-

Death Rate Boosted by Disease, Census Report Shows

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — The record of the MacDonald government, even before it was quite formed in office, was to attempt a settlement of the rail strike.

The government of Great Britain was passing into the hands of representatives of its laboring class, when it was being bent to bring about the slowly spreading industrial paralysis of the transportation system.

It was chosen by Premier Ramsay MacDonald for the nation's first labor cabinet were early at the various government offices. Their returning predecessors showed them "the door" before leaving.

Arthur Henderson already has assumed his duties as home secretary, while a seat in commons must first be found for him before he can be officially given the seals of the office.

SURPRISE SPRUNG
LONDON—(Associated Press) — The cabinet appointments of Ramsay MacDonald to attract most attention was Viscount Chelmsford as first Lord of the Admiralty and Sir John Wheatley, as minister of health.

The names of Lord Curzon, Lord Curzon as a complete surprise—one conservative newspaper "certain stock," for nobody had guessed he had any affiliation whatever and the date of his conversion again unknown. The viscount is reported as a former vicar of St. Paul who introduced there certain administrative reforms which dismayed the conservatives at home.

He also has been governor of Queensland and of New South Wales and has taken a conspicuous part in educational work.

Wheatley's inclusion in the ministry is generally regarded as a sop to the Glasgow extremists to whom he belongs. Born in humble circumstances, Wheatley worked for 12 years in the coal mines. He is now a publisher in Glasgow and is regarded the most intellectual of the Clydeside Socialists. As minister of health he will be responsible for the burning question of rents and housing, concerning which the Glasgow contingent has been much divided.

An efficient, durable, handsome electric clothes washer and wringer for the price of a good vacuum cleaner. Should any woman be compelled to toil six or eight hours over a steaming wash tub every week, breaking down her health and ruining her nerves when the whole job can be done by machinery at an insignificant cost? Here is a standard, fully guaranteed washer, with a copper tub, a Westinghouse motor, auto clutch drive, oilless bearing, cast steel gears, rubber castors, fully enclosed in a handsome steel cabinet case for $87.50.

The New Liberty is the wonder of the washing machine industry, and the price ---about half the price of other standard machines---is made possible through superior engineering, large production, and sales direct to the dealer by which the profits of the middlemen are saved to the ultimate buyer. If you need a washing machine, don't overlook the opportunity to examine the New Liberty NOW.

THE SLIPPER OF RED BROCADE

BEGIN HERE TODAY
A girl seeking nocturnal adventure leaves the ball room of the Marchioness of Berengaria early in the morning. While standing in the doorway leading into Grafton-st., she sees a woman in evening dress chasing a small terrier. When he runs that the woman's slipper he offers his services and is caused to be addressed as "No. 5".

He enters the scene and, bluffed, he is taken to a room in a part unfamiliar to him. Many people are assembled there who plot to kill the Emperor of Berengaria. The novelist is addressed as "No. 5" and is asked to voice his opinion.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Well, I should say that between 12 and 1 would be the best time to pick him between the shoulder blades." There were no dissenting voices.

"In that case," said the chairman, "you would do the removal, and that No. 5 would be ready to assist you in escaping by having a safe conduct." However, you will remember that it is more usual.

A safe conduct is employed, for her to do the removal while the number drives the taxi."

She used this for a short time, and I made quite a pretty picture

SHE PLUNG ME A SMILE, ADDING: "I SHALL NOT OBJECT TO YOUR PREFERENCE FOR THE KNIFE!"

I lurking at the corner of Grafton-st., watching for the Berengarian who was out of Pontefract's. But No. 5 cut us short:

"That is perfectly useless. It is most difficult to escape from a place like Bord-st. There is too much traffic, and the road is generally crowded."

When I was concerned with the removal of Schlopstein, the traitor, I was very nearly caught. If I had not run over a policeman, I'd not be here."

"Certainly," said the chairman, politely, "there is something in what you say."

"No. 5, of course, I assume that you are not thinking of my No. 5."

"Oh, no," said the lady, carelessly. "That is not of the slightest interest. But I dislike inefficient work. I say the park."

"Then you thought out a plan?"

"Yes. You are aware that the Emperor of Berengaria rides sixteen horses. His horse does not go very fast."

"Well, asuming that is the case?"

"What I propose is as follows: No. 5 and I will proceed to the park, there to be half past eight in the morning, a few minutes before the Emperor. I shall be standing by the railings when his horse comes along at its usual leisurely pace. We will select a spot in front of the railings which will be posted No. 9. The Emperor of Berengaria arrives. I will give a cry and fall down in a faint. He will get off his horse. I understand, Comrade, that the tyrant is very chivalrous; so an image should be taken of this weakness. While he is bending over me, I will have an opportunity to dispatch him with any weapon that I may have. I say truncheons. They go deep and make no noise."

She broke into a smile, as she added: "The I shall not object to No. 5's preference for a knife if he is more practiced with the weapon."

"Mostly, indeed," said the chairman, "very competent. I consider that No. 5, Have you any objections, No. 9?"

"It sounds very efficient. I am quite willing, and perhaps No. 5 is right. In the case of a highly adipose monarch the knife may not be the best. I say truncheons."

You can settle that later. Settle it between yourselves. Now can you do in any way?"

"No. 5, "As soon as the good work is done we shall run off in opposite directions, one toward the east and one toward the west, until we reach the road. There we shall expect to find two Boys-Joyce and their comrades, they must follow us."

"I do," said the chairman. "Comrade No. 1 (Supplies), please see to it."

"We've only got one automobile," said No. 1.

"We don't bother about that," said the chairman. "You'll have to get in."

"Outside the Blitz Hotel is an awfully good place. That's what day do you propose?"

"Tomorrow," said No. 5, in a savage tone.

"So we shan't have the car till day after tomorrow. They're awfully late to find in daylight. Today's Tuesday . . . for safety, say Thursdays at half-past eight. Is that clear?"

"Yes," said No. 5.

"Any other business?" said the chairman. "No other business? The door is declared closed."

No. 5 went out, No. 5 said to me: "I say, we'd better have a talk now and get it absolutely clear. We don't want any mistakes."

"Neither nor," said I.

"Well, look here, we'd better lunch tomorrow at . . . let's lunch at one o'clock. Suppose the tyrant were to catch a glimpse of me!" She said, "I'm not altogether repulsive. Then, when I fall down faint, he might recognize me, and he'd be all the more sure to take me in my sad case."

"All right," I said, "tomorrow lunch at Mivart's, one-thirty. I'll be there." Before we went out, however, Comrade No. 1 (Supplies) paid us.

"Have you got enough money?"

"I never has enough money," I replied, out of habit.

"I take after fifty pounds," said No. 1 confidentially. "One never know what may happen, and there's lots more where that came from."

He put the money into my pocket, and thanked him with a smile.

III

Not half an hour had elapsed; here was again in Curzon-st. Near by the file of carriages outside Drinning House; the lights glowed; and our came the strains once more of "Chop Chop Chinaman." But he was no longer alone: the beautiful figure by my side, the she was in with the opulent scene, represented in her robe of flame the vision of anarchy. It was exciting and wonderful, I knew that my master lead her forthwith to the police and to expose the plot, so that the Emperor of Berengaria might proceed with his peaceful life. But the manacles upon those slender wrists, that dark waving hair under the cap of the prisoner, it was unthinkable, horrible. I hated and feared the same time a gentler sentiment arose in me. If only I could argue with and convert her! For, of course, some day she must live and die, or see the roses of her cheek grow dull in a prison cell. To convert a woman one must make her love one. There was not much time.

Was then that with a pretty laugh No. 5 paused outside the arch and murmured: "It's all very well, but I still haven't got my slipper."

"I say," I replied, remorsefully. "How like a man! I was going to walk until we met a taxi. Why? You might have hurt your feet on a cinder, intense, ecstatic note: "Oh," she murmured, "I might spill my heart's blood for our cause."

"I'll your heart's blood if you like," I replied, "but your foot's blood is glorious. The question is, how am I to find you slipper. Look I'm afraid it'll be a bit large for you, but let me lend you my left foot."

She laughed again: "And then it will be your foot's blood which spilled for the cause." I marveled at her lightness, but she was so she could laugh in the middle of tragedy.

I know what to do," I said. "I've just been to a dance, and it's my fortune to grow very hot. Thus I carry several spare handkerchiefs.

To make you a sort of sandal."

She laughed again, and silently extended a charming foot, covered in colored silk. I knelt down, fumbling with the handkerchiefs, and was filled with pity as I noted this exquisite little foot, rather too long, I'm very slim, and perfectly arched. It was cold in my hands as I folded it in the handkerchiefs, clumsily tying them about the ankle. When it was done No. 5 murmured, "I'm afraid I shall limp."

"Take my arm," I replied, and we walked along Curzon-st.; I trembled at the light weight of the little hand.

"I say," I remarked, "I can't go on calling you No. 5."

She drew a little away: "How do you mean? We have no names.

We are but lonely atoms working toward a common end."

"I know," I replied, for I realized that in such adventures names are not used.

"But, all the same, you and I are entering upon a business in which neither may come out alive. Let us not tell each other our secret."

"All right . . . Geoffrey," she murmured, coming a little closer.

An Intimate Story of Intensest Emotions Revealed in Private Letters

LETTER FROM MALLY ATHERTON TO BEATRICE GRIMSHAW

DEAR BEE:

Although you were very careful to say in your letter that you were not advising me, what you wrote me, Bee dear, decided me. I am going to accept Mr. Prescott's offer of a secretary position. I told this to Sam tonight.

Sam, I had to smile inwardly, for Sam's eyes are nearly wild now. He sees almost as well as I and he watches my face every moment he is with me. I could also see by his face that he was really relieved that I was going away, yet he felt called upon to make the worse fuss about it possible. He said he could not understand why any woman, let alone his wife, could give up a splendid position as I had here for one which at first at least would bring me in less money than I was getting now and would certainly take me away from my husband.

I am glad to say, Bee, that I was brave enough and truthful enough to tell him that because that position would "take me away from my husband" was the real reason I took it.

Then he turned nasty—"Is it your intention of taking Jimmie Congdon with you?" he asked sarcastically.

"I can't understand why you ask that, Sam. I have nothing to do with Jimmie Congdon; in fact, I shall be very glad to get rid of all the men I know, and start all over again with a new crowd."

"That's the new woman for you."

"Well, have you never felt that way yourself? I have never known a man in all my life whose eyes have not brightened and whose shoulders have not straightened a little when someone has suggested that he make the acquaintance of an unknown woman."

"But that's different," interrupted Sam.

"Not a bit different, my dear, and one of the reasons why you and I have not gotten along together very well, except the time when you were blind and you depended upon me, is because you have never allowed yourself to get out of the notion that men and women are alike."

"Sally," broke in Sam angrily, "you are positively indecent."

I added insult to injury by laughing, and he fairly shouted at me: "Do you want me to think that women have the same instincts, the same passions, the same general crudeness that men have?"

"Certainly I do, my dear. Have you ever realized how inconsistent men are about women? In the first place, they are always saying that women are so much better than themselves, yet nothing terrible ever happened that they did not immediately say, search for the woman."

"They don't seem to realize that women lie and steal and commit murder and break the other commandments just as men do. Perhaps, Sam, we women are a little more forgiving than you men are, because we know that you are human, and you will not confess that we are human beings even to yourselves."

Here comes Jimmie to take me shopping. Will write you another letter before I leave for my new job.

National Boxing Association Accuses Fight Promotor Of Monopolizing The Game

Tex Rickard Denies Any Combine

(By HENRY L. FARRELL)

NEW YORK (United Press)

Championship fight in the most interesting cases, Tex Rickard is confined to New York by strict conditions that cannot be controlled, Tex Rickard, New York leading promoter, said.

Rickard is a key man in the affairs of the National Boxing Association that he and his partner, John Ringling, had created a combine which constituted a virtual monopoly of boxing.

"New York is getting in the lead for buying contests," he said. "I agree New York is the best place where boxing is developed, the sport that is in greatest favor a champion fight hour."

"It must be remembered that in Chicago and many other of the larger cities boxing is born. Philadelphia is a good boxing town, but it is impossible to stage big championships there because the price are too low to pay the men."

"Boxing is a big business. A promoter must pay the boxers what they demand. New York has a boxing law, a big population and a tremendous interest in the sport. Under these conditions New York should be allowed that for which it is willing to pay and big enough to support."

Rickard laughed at the charge that he sent agents to Shreveport last summer to ruin the Dempsey-Gibbons heavyweight championship.

Rickard said he not only did not desire to split the Shreveport fight, but that he was prepared and was willing to go to the rescue of the promoters if they had called upon him.

It is probable that the differences between the New York boxing commission and the National Boxing Association never will be settled.

The members of the New York commission are still to feel that they have their hands full trying to keep the game going in New York without attempting to keep it up all over the country.

The New York commissioners feel that the working agreement effective between the commissions in New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts and Connecticut is much of an alliance as it deserves.

AMONG THE CAGERS

SOUTH HI PLAYS BLUFFTON

South will meet one of her bitter rivals Friday night when she takes up against Bluffton Hi in the second game of the season. Bluffton defeated the Lima team on October 13-12, and it is unlikely that the local crew will turn that defeat. Incidentally, South will be forced to break her long strike which has existed to three weeks. Bluffton has a strong squad this season, but two of its leaders, Tom and Bert, will be out of the loss of three players who are not playing. Crosson and R. Kitchell, who are now playing with Bluffton, will go back to their old clubs, while the others will be out on Saturday night and the same will be schedule every night this week.

It is difficult to imagine that in Chicago and many other of the larger cities boxing is born. Philadelphia is a good boxing town, but it is impossible to stage big championships there because the price are too low to pay the men.

"Boxing is a big business. A promoter must pay the boxers what they demand. New York has a boxing law, a big population and a tremendous interest in the sport. Under these conditions New York should be allowed that for which it is willing to pay and big enough to support."

AS A MATTER OF FACT Being a Criticism of the Just and the Unjust in the World of Professional and Amateur Sports

BY HAROLD GRADBOURG

The movement to make William Muldoon high commissioner of boxing, with jurisdiction in many ways similar to that held by Judge Landis, as supreme judge of baseball, is gaining favor among several of the state boxing boards. Minnesota was the instigator of the idea and was seconded by Dakota W. H. Sailor, secretary of the board of Minnesota announces that he will propose the idea at the next meeting of the National Boxing association which meets at Louisville Kentucky, next Monday. With several other state bodies indicating their willingness, it would seem that there is more in the idea than idle rumor. Minnesota fight men have pledged $2,000 extra rate in the amateur classes which could be applied towards boxing matches. Without this, making up Muldoon's salary in power.

There is no doubt that the National Boxing association has done a great deal of good during the past year, but it is not necessary for the N.B.A. to do all the work.

It is certain that the time this year will again take the honors of the Heaton tournament. Admitting to the public that he is not yet

Hopper Did Not Play

BECAUSE of a car accident at Ripley, Ind., to the Dowdell Hopper company, in which three cars of an eleven car train, jumped the track, and were necessarily ditched to clear the right-of-way, one of which contained the baggage and scenery, there was no performance of Pianoforte last night at the Faurot. The company arrived in Lima in plenty of time, but without costumes and scenery, and the performance was cancelled. It was occasion for disappointing what would have been a large audience. Many had come from out of town. From the standpoint that accidents will happen to the best laid plans, and especially on railroads, it was unavoidable and much to be regretted.

THREE will be a complete change of program with the Lew Kelly company at the New Orpheum, beginning Thursday afternoon. The performance is called "So This is Hokus," which will continue thru the remainder of the week.
